

III specialization, mission

Intelligentsia International, Inc. is a training and research organization in south Florida. III offers a variety of internships for young American and International professionals seeking experience in:

- ✦ Hydrological research and environmental monitoring
- ✦ Computer simulation of hydraulic and hydrological systems
- ✦ Production of training and project report videos
- ✦ Design and management of telemetry and database systems
- ✦ Non-profit organization management and community activism
- ✦ Marketing strategies
- ✦ Web development

You will learn how to

- ✦ Increase your work efficiency, productivity and personal and work independence
- ✦ Improve your knowledge of English, computer sciences, environmental issues, modern technologies
- ✦ Improve your team work capabilities and communication skills, both within your own nation citizens and between different cultures and nations
- ✦ Learn about local political and governmental systems, American culture and life
- ✦ Grow into a successful young professional

Intelligentsia International's

office is located in beautiful area of south Florida. Since 1999, it has hosted over 200 participants from over 50 nations. With us, you can take part in an office, laboratory and field work assignments as well as participate in classes, tours, recreational activities and more. For more information please see our web-site at www.intelligentsia-international.org.

Internship Florida, USA

www.Intelligentsia-International.org